Theory of Source-Divergence Structure（TSD）

(Inscription Verse)

Formless in origin, silent in motion,

Unnamed before heaven and earth arose.

To seek its truth, it split into one—

I entered the realms, walking a thousand paths.

Some return, some disperse; some awaken, some descend.

Not led by any way—the Way reveals itself.

Three paths diverge, all return to one field;

The One is not end—it begins anew.

Name is not name, sign is not sign.

To know is to err, to recognize is to divide.

Those who observe the shifts shall see the path;

Those who forget the name shall touch the heart.

This map does not explain, this verse does not preach.

The Seer shall see. The Awakened shall walk.
